Kanine Korner

By Francis X. Lohmann

The benefits of cosmetic medical aids have finally been made available to dogs. The question is "How far will it go?"

A near-sighted Dachshund in Chicago was fitted with contact lenses recently, in an effort to restore the 11-year-old dog's failing sight. His vision loss was determined by tests with different types of light, then lenses were ground to order. It took the dog a while to get used to the idea, but he has adapted to the lenses and now sees fairly well.

Not so fortunate but definitely more glamorous, is a Poodle living in Pico Rivera who wears custom-made sunglasses to protect his eyes from bright sunlight. The dog recently underwent a corneal operation and the glasses serve a vital purpose, but his chic appearance in the attention-getting spectacles might very well start a fad among dog-owning Californians.

MEANWHILE, in Sydney, Australia, there is a happy dog who can hear his master's voice again, after several years of deafness. He has a hearing aid made especially for him. The dog, a 12-year-old Cocker Spaniel, was fitted after his master took a plaster cast of his drooping ears. At first he wore the aid for only short periods of time, but now he won't go without it.

Cosmetic dentistry for dogs is an established procedure and there are many dogs with false or capped teeth. So far, no report has been received by this reporter of a dog with a complete set of dentures.

All of these new developments for aiding dogs are wonderful and I'm for them 100 per cent, but I can't help wondering if someday there will be sunglasses with a hearing aid in the rim, to be worn under a small toupee—the very latest for the aging canine.

HAPPY TO report that my first record, "The Beloved Dog," for the Accent label is selling briskly. Its a must for dog lovers. Disk spotlights six great canine classics including the time honored "Senator Vest's Tribute To A Dog" — all on one record for only $2. My readers can order a copy direct from the company — Accent Records, 6533 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood 28, Calif.

This touching story recently crossed my desk. A lady died and left $1,000 for the care of her beloved Great Dane. Some of her surviving relatives indignantly scoffed at the idea of leaving money for the care of a dog. But get this . . . 11 days later the Dane died. He had refused to eat or drink since his mistress' death. The official report said — "The Great Dane died of a broken heart." I could comment further on this story but I feel the punch line is self explanatory. All I can add is "thank God for dogs."

BREED OF the week: Whippet . . . Many people, in and out of dogdom, consider the Whippet to be the fastest dog in his poundage category. He has been clocked at speeds of 35 miles an hour. The symmetrical little speed demon has enjoyed great favor in England for 100 years. The Whippet is known as the "poor man's racing horse" due to his extensive use in racing.

In appearance the Whippet is a scaled down replica of the Greyhound or an enlarged edition of the Italian Greyhound. His outlines are as gracefully balanced as his mutt and jeff cousins.

Most canine authorities believe that the Whippet was produced by breeding small Greyhounds to various Terriers and the results of these matings crossed with Italian Greyhounds thus giving the breed much of his present refinement and elegance.

Happy, Happy New Year to my treasured readers everywhere!
